

Dear IAMG2025 participants,

We hope you are doing well, and you are ready to join us soon in Zhuhai.

The program is online available:

The IAMG2025 scientific program is now online, and can be found at:

<https://www.iamgconferences.org/iamg2025/onlineProgram.php>

Please, log in to the conference system to find your personalized and interactive program and your registration details. The schedule of each contribution can also be found in the submission panel. Please check that your submission is properly scheduled in the program.

Please inform us about any last-minute changes (presenter changes, late arrival, cancellation) as soon as possible as a courtesy to everybody in your session, by a short e-mail to the conference office (iamg2025@iamgmembers.org).

There are still some places in the short courses:

- Scale Invariance of Dolomite Structure: From SEM to Seismic through Digital Twins and Turing Patterns
- Multifractals in geophysics and geology

Please keep in mind to update your information whether you will join us:

- to the city tour on Monday (October 13) after the closing ceremony
- to the ice breaker party on Thursday (October 09)
- to the conference dinner on Friday (October 10)

Please check and update the information in the conference website under “My registration” → “Your Registration Details” not later than October 05.

Please do not forget that presentations slides should be uploaded to the website platform before the conference starts. Below are some details:

Conference language:

The conference language is English. All presentations and posters will be in English.

Oral presentations:

Normal oral presentations will be given 20-minute slots (questions comprised). We recommend splitting this time into 14 minutes of presentation, 5 minutes of discussion, allowing for 1 min for transition and announcements. We recommend 16/9 presentation slides optimized for 1920x1080 pixel resolution. Slides need to be uploaded ahead of the conference in pdf, ppt or pptx format over the website of the contribution. We ask you to upload the slides before Oct. 09. If you have last minute changes, you simply can upload the new version over the conference system:

<https://www.iamgconferences.org/iamg2025/manage.php>

Login and click on your contribution and upload your slides under "Slides upload".

Poster presentations:

The size of the poster boards is A0. Please print your posters by yourselves and bring the printed posters to the conference. The Poster must be clearly titled with the contribution code (to be provided through the paper management system on publication of the program), the contribution title and the authors. There is no special template.

All poster presenters will have the opportunity for a short (max 2 min) teaser presentation at the end of parallel session slots. You can use 1 slide (pdf format), which needs to be submitted through the contribution management system ahead of the conference:

<https://www.iamgconferences.org/iamg2025/manage.php>

Login and click on your contribution and upload your poster teaser under "Slides upload".

The aim of a teaser presentation is to get people interested in coming to see your poster. Why is the result important? Is this poster interesting for me? It is NOT a mini presentation of the content.

Best regards,

The local organizing committee
